

Africa's Energy Transition : Where will the Power Come from?

ALN will host an engaging and thought-provoking interactive panel session titled "Africa's Green Transition. Where will the Power Come from?" during the upcoming 2023 Africa Energy Forum. The session will delve into crucial questions surrounding the continent's energy transition. Participants will explore the dilemma faced by state off-takers, examining whether they will step up to the challenge or be overwhelmed by the age-old question: if independent power producers build the generation and state off-takers guarantee the offtake, will the demand follow?