

Africa's Key Priority Areas Going Forward 2022

According to the World Economic Forum (WEF), African countries will need to work together with the rest of the world towards actualising key priority areas essential to the continent's economic development. Africa has some progress but there is still a long way to go, especially following the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and the Ukraine-Russia conflict which have brought to light the unpreparedness of the African countries.

Focus on the below would be instrumental in helping alleviate Africa's challenges: