Background

Sumbo heads the Telecommunication, Media, and Technology (TMT) team and the Governance, Compliance and Investigations (GCI) team from 2019 – October 2021. She is also a key member of the Firm's Project and Infrastructure Finance team. She also advises on various aspects of corporate and commercial law and has been involved in several landmark transactions in connection with investments and divestiture by local and foreign shareholders of their interest in Nigerian companies.

In the TMT space, she has provided extensive legal advisory support to top tech multi-national companies on their various cutting edge technology offerings and services, including applicable licenses and permits and data protection/privacy regulations. Her core support to clients in the telecommunications and media space remains, general regulatory advice, restructuring, licenses/permits regime and regulatory interface.

Sumbo has also advised and continues to advise multi-national companies on various issues pertaining to corporate governance, investigation and compliance.

She has been described as a "first class" lawyer, a "notable practitioner" and "a prominent figure in the Nigerian TMT market and draws praise for her expert advice" in the telecommunications sector by Who's Who Legal.
